MR. AND MRS. JAMES GIBB HONOR MISS LAURETTA BOYD

The Country Club was the setting for a very pretty dinner last Saturday evening when Mr. and Mrs. James Gibb of Alca, entertained in honor of Miss Laurretta Boyd of Sacramento, Cal. A circular table was used and in its center was a low bank of sweet peas and violets with maidenhair fern gracefully arranged about the flowers as a green lace border. A corsage bouquet was at each guest-place and tied to a long streamer of pink tulle was the dainty name card. Dancing after dinner finished a charming evening.

Mrs. Marion Schroder, who is the house-guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Angus, was the guest of honor at a luncheon given by Mrs. George Angus on Wednesday of this week. The guests were seated at small tables, which were decorated each with a russet basket from which tumbled a profusion of vari-colored nasturtiums and the silver green leaves of the blossom. A pleasing feature was a "grandmother's table."

James Uilo, Dr. Albert White and Mr. George Althorn are going to enjoy a dinner and dance at Henrie's. A basket of deep red roses will grace the center of the table and a jolly evening is anticipated.

COMBINED CIRCLE MEETING

Most enjoyable was the union sewing tea of the 16 neighborhood circles connected with the Women's Society of the Central Union church, which was held Thursday afternoon in the parish house, over 100 women being present at the pleasant affair. The members of the various circles grouped themselves about sewing-tables and the afternoon passed quickly as the busy fingers plied the needles, or rolled bandages for the Red Cross work, in which most of the women of the city are engaged at one time or another during the week.

One of the circles worked on "Palma pants" for the war orphans of the settlement, while two or three others were busy making little frocks and slips and doing the other necessary sewing to the infant's outfit, committee of the society, which outfits the new-born babes of women who cannot afford to provide even the simplest of layettes. Another circle made leis, all of which were sold during the afternoon. Circle No. 9 sold three of the four rug rugs which it had on exhibition, and plans for the work of the winter were discussed. Many of the women were busy tearing and rolling bandages while others worked on fancy articles which will later be sold for the benefit of the circles to which the women belong.

During the afternoon Dr. J. H. Williams outlined the new policy which the society will follow this year in regard to the calling. As no competent chairman for the calling committee was to be found this year, so many of the most capable women being deep in outside work which prevented them from accepting any more duties, it has been decided to try an experiment which has proved most successful in other places. The three deaconesses, Mrs. Arthur Alexander, Mrs. W. C. Hobdy and Mrs. Andrew Brown will be at the head of the calling department, while from each of the circles two visitors will be appointed by the president of the society, Mrs. Edwin Henner. These visitors will keep closely in touch with the women of their own group and will call on all tourists and new members coming to reside within the jurisdiction of their respective circles. These new comers will be invited to circle meetings and an effort will be made to have them become acquainted at once with several women of the group. All cases of bereavement, need or serious illness will be reported to the deaconesses and any other cases which should be called to their attention and they will act as a clearing house, as it were, for the church visiting list. Mrs. Alexander has consented to act as the director of circle visitors and it is hoped that the personal touch may enter very deeply into this department of the society's work.

Among the announcements made at the meeting one of especial interest was to the effect that on Monday at 1:15 Prof. A. L. Andrews of the College of Hawaii will speak before the mothers' Club of Punahou at Bishop hall, Oahu College, on the subject, "The Normal Child as Seen in the Light of the Abnormal." Having made a special investigative study during the past year of the defective child, its limitations, possibilities and needs, Dr. Andrews is well qualified to handle his subject and the Mothers' Club has invited all women of the city interested in the subject to be present. Following the various announcements of the afternoon light refreshments were served. The next meeting of the circles will be held the third Thursday in April, the hostesses who were to have entertained in March accepting the responsibility for April.

Mr. Wolcott has one of the very lovely homes in Honolulu. It is finished in great splendor, the rugs, tapestries and paintings being worth a fortune.

Mr. Wolcott, after his first trip here, became charmed with the islands and decided to make his home here and brought his art treasures to the city and is now a Honolulu.

MRS. MAGRUDER GORDON MAURY AN AFTERNOON HOSTESS

Mrs. Elizabeth Gilmer (Dorothy Dix) was the honor-guest at a very charming and thoroughly enjoyable bridge tea on Friday afternoon at the Davenport. After the bridge scores were counted and the gifts awarded a social hour was enjoyed. Dorothy Dix is a woman with a keen sense of humor. She has the fascinating manners of the women of the South and out of her smiling, half-closed eyes when she is telling one of her "Mirandy" stories, her keen enjoyment of humor reveals itself. She is clever with a cleverness whose greatest charm is utter simplicity of manner. Her droll accent of the South in her inimitable stories is a joy to listeners. She hopes to be here some time to see our trees in bloom. When told how lovely they were in full bloom, looking like "umbrellas of blossoms," she said she could hardly conceive them more handsome than they are now. She is charmed with all she has seen and leaves here Sunday very reluctantly, even though she has a delightful Japan trip ahead. Mrs. Sallie Douglas presented Mrs. Gilmer with copies of her Hawaiian songs. Mrs. Maury's guests were Mrs. E. M. Gilmer, for whom this affair was given; Mrs. William B. Cochran, Mrs. Edward Dekum, Mrs. Sallie Hume Douglas, Mrs. J. J. Ducker, Mrs. R. O. Matheson, Mrs. Horace W. Vaughan, Mrs. Jean Moulton, Mrs. V. Wilson, Mrs. S. C. Huber, Mrs. Wm. Mayne, Mrs. McKenzie, Miss Jessie Rae and Miss McMenamin.

MRS. F. McQUESTION OF BOSTON A HOSTESS

Mrs. F. McQuestion of Boston was a luncheon hostess at the Country Club on Thursday. The table was unusually handsome with beautiful appointments. In the center of the table was a handsome hammered silver basket filled with pinks, and tied to the handle was a tulle bow. Five smaller silver baskets held the same kind of blossoms, the handles being tied in the same way. Pink gauze ribbon lent a very charming effect. Lighted tapers in silver stocks and soft by shades in pink were pretty. Dainty menu cards were used, the cards being limono-clad Gelsia girls. Each guest was given a favor in the form of a hanging pin cushion.

Bridge followed, and the winners were Miss McCue, Mrs. Callender, Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Bell, while to Mrs. Wheeler went the consolation.

Mrs. McQuestion's guests were Mrs. R. Callender, Mrs. Robert Duener, Mrs. Carruta, Mrs. William E. Hunt, Mrs. Eugene Lohman, Miss Dell McCue, Miss C. Stuehal, Mrs. Raymond Bliss, Mrs. W. ## MOONLIGHT GARDEN PARTY A NOVELTY

The Moana Hotel management last Thursday evening presented a very pleasing program to its guests in the form of a fiesta. A moving picture show was a novelty. The guests were seated on the broad, cool lanai and here were spectators of the pictures. Mr. and Mrs. Monjo, professionals, danced very well. Society was out in full and the scene and setting was very pretty.
